Discussion Questions:

1. Do you ever find yourself being critical of or resistant to the boundaries God sets? How do you ignore or fail to defend those boundaries? What about being more "tolerant" is attractive to so many people?
2. Can you identify any boundaries you have set that are not Godly? What are they, and why had you set them? In other words, how and why have you been more strict than God?
3. Are you quicker to commend or critique?
4. Is there a male or female "Jezebel" in any of your circles? How have you responded to his/her behavior? How might you need to adjust how you respond? Are you in a position to lovingly confront him/her with the suggestion of repentance? Are you the "Jezebel" in your circles?
